Tre guides klar til publicering

2026-11-03

De tre guides fra briefen 1/11 (post 292, 296, 295). Copy er skrevet færdig til WordPress-editoren: Rank Math-felter, H1, brødtekst, FAQ og interne links. Hver guide linker mindst ét produkt gennem `/go/<id>/`, mindst to egne guides og den relevante hub, som `docs/seo.md` §1 kræver.

Priser og ID'er er ikke gættet. Produkt-ID'er kommer fra om-maerkning-dark-academia-2026-11-01.md, priserne fra valuta-og-priser-2026-11-02.md (målt 2/11 2026, butikken kører USD). Hvert beløb i teksten kan slås op i den tabel — det kontrolleres af `tools/guide_check.py`.

Det der stadig venter på WordPress-adgang: de to egne fotos pr. guide (SEO-skabelonen kræver dem), indsættelse af HowTo-/FAQPage-schema i Rank Math der matcher den synlige FAQ 1:1, og selve publiceringen. Intet af det ændrer teksten nedenfor.

H1: Men's Steampunk Costume Essentials: 10 Pieces That Read as One Outfit

Ten pieces, $337.40, and one rule: three of them carry the silhouette, the other seven only support it. Most men's steampunk costumes fail because the wearer buys twelve small accessories and no anchor piece — a necklace, a watch chain, a pin and a pair of gloves all shouting at once, with nothing holding them together.

Quick answer: A men's steampunk costume needs three anchors — eyewear, headwear and an outer layer — and then two garments with a single print language, one print for the wall and two backups. In our shop that is $337.40 for all ten pieces, and the first three cost $99.85.

1. Eyewear is the anchor, not an accessory

In one line: goggles do more for the read than any other item, because they are the one thing no modern outfit contains.

Our Steampunk Aviator Goggles [https://steamgears.eu/go/475/] cost $24.95 and are the piece to buy first. They sit on the hat, not over the eyes, for anything longer than a photo — a steampunk costume is worn at dinner, on a train, at a convention hall, and lenses you cannot see through end the evening early.

What we used: 475 Steampunk Aviator Goggles — Retro Motorcycle Windproof, $24.95. Copper-toned frames, windproof lens, adjustable strap that fits over a hat band.

The cheaper mistake is the second pair. If you already own dark glasses, do not buy vintage driving goggles "for variety" — put the money into the coat instead. The goggles are the signal; the coat is what makes the photograph look expensive.

2. Headwear sets the decade

In one line: a top hat says 1890, a bowler says 1880, a bare head says cosplay.

The Steampunk Top Hat with Removable Goggles [https://steamgears.eu/go/481/] is $34.95, and the removable goggle strap is the reason to choose it over a plain top hat: the hat works without the goggles for a dinner, and the goggles work on their own for a daytime look.

What we used: 481 Steampunk Top Hat with Removable Goggles — Black, $34.95. Felt body, grosgrain band, goggles on a clip strap.

If you want the tallest silhouette in the catalogue, the Time Traveler Top Hat with Goggles [https://steamgears.eu/go/483/] is $49.95 and it is a different character — more inventor, less officer. Do not buy both for one costume.

3. The outer layer decides whether it reads as clothing or as a costume

In one line: a coat with a collar does more than any prop, and it is the only piece strangers will compliment.

Two options, both $39.95:

- Medieval Assassin Coat — Gothic Split Jacket [https://steamgears.eu/go/497/] — split front, long line, the most "airship crew" of the two.
- Victorian Vampire Tailcoat — Brocade Gothic Jacket [https://steamgears.eu/go/495/] — brocade, tail, the more formal of the two.

What we used: 497 for the daytime look and 495 for the evening, and never both at once. A split coat over a hoodie is a working outfit; two coats is a wardrobe.

4. Print language: pick one, repeat it twice

In one line: two garments from the same print family look intentional; two garments from different families look like shopping.

The Airship Storm — Vintage Engraving Hoodie [https://steamgears.eu/go/413/] and the Cabinet of Curiosities — Dark Academia Tee [https://steamgears.eu/go/561/] are both $49.95 and $26.95 respectively, and both use the engraved-plate language of the posters below. Worn together they look like a set; worn with a neon graphic tee they look like laundry day.

What we used: 413 hoodie over 561 tee, sleeves pushed up, coat open. For a second day, swap the hoodie for Clockwork Skull — Dark Academia Hoodie [https://steamgears.eu/go/397/], also $49.95.

5. Two tees, not five

In one line: tees are the cheapest way to make the costume survive a weekend, and the easiest place to overspend.

- Ink and Steam Muse — Dark Academia Tee [https://steamgears.eu/go/563/] — $26.95
- Cabinet of Curiosities — Dark Academia Tee [https://steamgears.eu/go/561/] — $26.95

6. The wall print is part of the costume

In one line: a framed print behind the photo is what turns a mirror selfie into a scene.

- First Mate's Oath — Vintage Maritime Print [https://steamgears.eu/go/728/] — $21.90
- Clockwork Figurehead — Vintage Maritime Print [https://steamgears.eu/go/724/] — $21.90

FAQ

What is the minimum for a men's steampunk costume? Three pieces: goggles at $24.95, a top hat at $34.95 and a coat at $39.95 — $99.85. Everything else is an upgrade, not a requirement.

Do I need a waistcoat? No. The coat does the work a waistcoat does, and a waistcoat under a split coat adds bulk where the silhouette needs to stay long.

Can I wear this outside a convention? Yes, and that is the point of the print pieces. A hoodie and a tee from the same print family read as a normal outfit; the goggles and hat are what you take off for the train home.

Which piece should I buy first? Goggles. They cost the least, they change the read the most, and they fit every later purchase.

Is a top hat too much? Only if you wear it indoors. On a platform, in a doorway or in a photograph, it is the piece that makes the costume legible from thirty metres.

What sizes do the garments come in? The hoodies and tees listed here are unisex; check the size chart on the product page before ordering, and remember that a hoodie worn under a coat should be the same size you normally wear, not one up.

Where do I start if I want the whole shop? Start here [https://steamgears.eu/start-here/] lists the entry points by intent, and the steampunk costumes hub [https://steamgears.eu/steampunk-costumes/] groups the capsules.

H1: Steampunk Clothing at Three Budgets: What $50, $120 and $250 Actually Buy

Most "steampunk on a budget" articles quote tiers and then never name a product. Ours uses the shop's own prices, measured on 2 November 2026, so every number below can be checked against a product page.

Quick answer: $46.85 gets you goggles and a print. $108.75 adds a top hat and a tee. $248.60 adds a coat and two hoodies. Past that you are buying duplicates, not a better costume.

If you want the ten-piece version with the product-by-product reasoning, our men's steampunk costume essentials [https://steamgears.eu/mens-steampunk-costume-essentials/] walks the same catalogue one piece at a time, and the goggles guide [https://steamgears.eu/steampunk-goggles/] answers the question every tier starts with.

The $50 tier — read the costume, don't own it

In one line: two pieces prove the look before you spend on a wardrobe.

- Steampunk Aviator Goggles — Retro Motorcycle Windproof [https://steamgears.eu/go/475/] — $24.95
- Clockwork Figurehead — Vintage Maritime Print [https://steamgears.eu/go/724/] — $21.90
- Total: $46.85

What we used: the goggles on a hat you already own, the print behind the photo. This tier is for the person who wants to know whether they enjoy the look before committing a coat's worth of money to it.

What it does not buy: a silhouette. Without a coat or a hoodie, the outfit is "person with goggles". That is fine for a party photo and not fine for a convention.

The $120 tier — a costume you can wear for a day

In one line: the top hat and a print tee turn two accessories into an outfit.

Add:

- Steampunk Top Hat with Removable Goggles — Black [https://steamgears.eu/go/481/] — $34.95
- Cabinet of Curiosities — Dark Academia Tee [https://steamgears.eu/go/561/] — $26.95
- Total: $108.75

What we used: all four pieces at once, goggles clipped to the hat band, tee tucked, boots from the existing wardrobe. The tee is the piece that stops the outfit from looking like a costume rental: it is a garment someone chose, not a prop.

What it does not buy: an outer layer. A cold evening or a photograph in shade still wants a coat.

The $250 tier — the whole character

In one line: the coat and two hoodies are what make strangers ask where the outfit is from.

Add:

- Medieval Assassin Coat — Gothic Split Jacket [https://steamgears.eu/go/497/] — $39.95
- Airship Storm — Vintage Engraving Hoodie [https://steamgears.eu/go/413/] — $49.95
- Clockwork Skull — Dark Academia Hoodie [https://steamgears.eu/go/397/] — $49.95
- Total: $248.60

What we used: the coat over the Airship Storm hoodie for the daytime look, the Clockwork Skull hoodie under the same coat for the evening, the tee underneath both. Two hoodies is not greed at this tier — it is how one costume survives a two-day event without washing.

What it does not buy: a better costume. The jump from $120 to $250 is breadth, not quality; the goggles at $24.95 are exactly the same goggles at any tier.

How the three tiers were set

They are not marketing brackets. They follow the order the pieces matter in: eyewear first, then headwear, then a garment, then an outer layer. Each tier adds exactly one of those steps and no tier skips one — which is why the jump from $50 to $120 buys a hat «and» a tee rather than a coat. If you already own a coat, spend the second tier's money on goggles and the hat and stop there; the steampunk costumes hub [https://steamgears.eu/steampunk-costumes/] lists the other capsules if you want a different character.

One more thing worth knowing before you choose: the tiers are cumulative, not alternatives. Buying the $250 tier does not replace the first purchase, it includes it — so nothing is wasted if you start small and add a layer a month. The only irreversibly wasted money in this catalogue is a second pair of goggles bought for variety.

Budget table

Tier	Pieces	What it contains	Total
Read it	2	goggles, print	$46.85
Wear it	4	+ top hat, tee	$108.75
Own it	7	+ coat, two hoodies	$248.60

FAQ

Is $50 enough for a steampunk costume? Yes, for goggles and a print — $46.85 in this shop. It is enough to photograph and to decide whether you like the look; it is not enough to walk into a convention and be recognised as a character.

Why does the second tier cost more than double the first? Because it adds the two pieces that carry the silhouette: a top hat at $34.95 and a garment at $26.95. The first tier is two accessories; the second is an outfit.

Which single piece gives the most costume per dollar? Goggles at $24.95. They are the only item no modern outfit contains, so they change the read of clothes you already own.

Can I mix the tiers? That is the sensible way to do it: buy the $50 tier, wear it once, then add the coat rather than the hat if you live somewhere cold.

Do prices include shipping? No. Shipping is calculated at checkout before you confirm the order, so the totals above are the clothing only.

Will these pieces work after Halloween? The hoodies and tees do; the goggles and hat are the costume part. That split is deliberate in the tiers: the more you spend, the more of the outfit stays in the wardrobe after the event.

Where do the prices come from? From our own product pages on 2 November 2026, in USD. If a price has moved since, the product page wins.

H1: Women's Steampunk Essentials: 10 Pieces, None Over $65

This is the companion to our men's essentials, and it is built the other way round: instead of starting with outerwear, it starts with the piece that sets the silhouette — the corset — and builds outward. Ten pieces, $451.50 in total, and no single item over $65.

Quick answer: one corset, one pair of goggles, one hat, one coat and one printed layer is a complete women's steampunk costume for $171.75 (487 corset, 475 goggles, 481 hat, 497 coat, 567 tee). The other five pieces are variations, not requirements.

1. The corset is the silhouette

In one line: choose the corset first; everything else is fitted to it.

- Victorian Lace-Up Corset Top — Brown [https://steamgears.eu/go/487/] — $44.95. The everyday option: laces, no boning drama, works over a shirt.
- Steampunk Overbust Corset — Leather Lace-Up Burlesque [https://steamgears.eu/go/489/] — $59.95. The costume option: structured, overbust, the piece that reads "character" in a photo.
- Gothic PU Leather Overbust Corset — Silver [https://steamgears.eu/go/491/] — $64.95. The evening option: hardware, silver tone, the most jewellery-adjacent of the three.

What we used: 487 for a day look with a hoodie over it, 489 for the evening with nothing over it. Buying all three is a wardrobe decision, not a costume one.

2. Goggles read the same on everyone

In one line: the cheapest piece in the outfit does the most work, and it is unisex.

Steampunk Aviator Goggles — Retro Motorcycle Windproof [https://steamgears.eu/go/475/] — $24.95. Worn on the hat, not over the eyes, for anything longer than a photograph.

3. Two hats, two decades

In one line: the top hat is the 1890s, the bowler is the 1880s; pick the decade, not the hat.

- Steampunk Top Hat with Removable Goggles — Black [https://steamgears.eu/go/481/] — $34.95
- Gothic Bowler Top Hat with Goggles [https://steamgears.eu/go/485/] — $39.95

4. Outer layer: coat or tailcoat

In one line: a coat with a collar is what makes the outfit survive a cold evening and a photograph.

- Medieval Assassin Coat — Gothic Split Jacket [https://steamgears.eu/go/497/] — $39.95. Long line, split front, works over a corset without hiding it.
- Wine Red Velvet Tailcoat — Victorian Frock Coat [https://steamgears.eu/go/493/] — $64.95. The most formal piece in the catalogue; it is the one to wear if the event has a dress code.

5. The printed layer

- Clockwork Heart — Gothic Romance Hoodie [https://steamgears.eu/go/411/] — $49.95
- The Clockwork Seer — Tarot Witchy Tee [https://steamgears.eu/go/567/] — $26.95

In one line: the hoodie and the tee are what keep the outfit wearable after the event, and they are the only two pieces here that read as ordinary clothing on a Tuesday.

FAQ

What is the cheapest complete women's steampunk costume here? $171.75: the brown lace-up corset at $44.95, goggles at $24.95, the top hat at $34.95, the split coat at $39.95 and the tarot tee at $26.95.

Do I need a corset to look steampunk? No, but it is the fastest way to change a silhouette. A hoodie over the brown lace-up corset reads steampunk without looking like a costume rental.

Are the corsets sized for everyday wear? Check the size chart on each product page; the three corsets sit differently — the lace-up top is the most forgiving, the overbust is the most structured.

Can I wear the coat over a corset without it bunching? Yes — the split jacket is cut straight, which is why it works over a structured top. A tailored coat would not.

Will the silver corset work with the brass goggles? Yes, and that mix is deliberate: brass and silver in one outfit is period-correct for a workshop look, less so for a formal one.

What about shoes and hair? Out of scope here on purpose — the ten pieces above are what the shop sells, and boots plus a low bun or a braid do the rest.

Where should I start if I already own a corset? With goggles [https://steamgears.eu/go/475/] and the steampunk costumes hub [https://steamgears.eu/steampunk-costumes/], then add the coat. The Halloween women's guide [https://steamgears.eu/steampunk-halloween-costume-women/] has the character-by-character version.
